SUTTON

The Gentle Partner

Gentle | Cooperative | Affectionate | Tolerant | Trainable

PERSONALITY

Sutton combines a softer social approach with a strong desire to remain connected to people. He readily followed once engaged, tolerated restraint extremely well, and demonstrated cooperative retrieving by bringing the object back to the tester.

FAMILY / THERAPY / GENTLE WORKING PROSPECT

STRENGTHS

Gentleness; excellent handling tolerance; cooperative retrieve; strong following behavior; good visual confidence; promising balance of softness and trainability.

GROWTH AREAS

He may benefit from encouragement when initially encountering unfamiliar social situations. Confidence building should be positive and gradual while allowing his natural cooperative nature to develop.

BEST-FIT HOME

An excellent candidate for first-time puppy parents, family companionship, therapy evaluation, or potentially service-dog training. He may also suit a quieter household seeking a connected, manageable dog.

ABOUT THIS EVALUATION

Volhard testing is a snapshot of natural responses at seven weeks, not a guarantee of adult temperament. Genetics, socialization, training, environment, and life experience all influence development.
